

Argument Analysis Vocabulary

Use the following tables to find more exciting verbs for your analysis. The further away from the middle word, the more different the words are.

Bonus activity: add your own words to the tables!

Instead of 'the author argues', the author could...

emphasises	acknowledges	labels	names	attributes repeats	presents	suggests	recognises	urges connects	implies	ARGUES	accepts	highlights associates		contends

Now add the following words to the table: declares, asserts, claims, states, pronounces, alleges, addresses, persuades

Instead of 'the author supports', the author could...

bolsters	pleads	justifies	defends	applauds praises	endorses	asserts	maintains	credits condones	upholds	SUPPORTS		commends rebutts				encourages

Now add the following words to the table: reinforces, substantiates, consolidates, corroborate, strengthens, fortifies, gives weight to, builds on, compounds, accentuates

Instead of 'the author attacks', the author could...

rejects	denies	accuses	complains	implicates blames	denounces	condemns	criticises	derides mocks	refutes	ATTACKS	undermines	contradicts ridicules questions

Now add the following words to the table: confronts, criticises, charges, censures, belittles, insults, disparages, denigrates, vilifies, satirises

Instead of 'the author describes', the author could...

frames	imagines	interprets	labels	characterises outlines	depicts	portray	construct	elaborates embellishes	illustrate	DESCRIBES	render	associates recreates				highlights

Now add the following words to the table: presents, paints, demonstrates, shows, elicits, engenders, reflects, enhances

Instead of 'the author quotes', the author could...

refers to	defers to	paraphrases	mentions	selects replicates	cites	reproduces	references	alludes to draws from	retells	QUOTES	recalls	gleans from repeats	reiterates

Now add the following words to the table: fosters a sense of, indicates, produces, typifies, exemplifies

Instead of 'the author states', the author could...

imply	hint	intimate	connote	insinuates advances	conveys (the idea that)	proclaims	propagates STATES	promotes

Now add the following words to the table: signifies, alludes to, signals

Instead of 'the author praises', the author could...

highlights	stresses	admires underscores		commends	extols accentuates		PRAISES	honours reiterates		supports	lauds

Now add the following words to the table: intensifies, promotes, magnifies, downplays

Instead of 'the author rejects', the author could...

		denies	repulses
	rebutts	refutes	repudiates disproves	REJECTS	contradicts erodes
weakens	crushes

Now add the following words to the table: downplays, cast aspersions, at, scorns, casts doubt on, dismisses

Instead of 'the author tries', the author could...

		aims	endeavours
		TRIES	seeks attempts	strives

Now add the following words to the table:

Instead of 'the author persuades', the author could...

encourages	inspires	stimulates	attracts	captivates prompts	positions	motivates	coaxes	entices assures	sways	PERSUADES	seeks urges	convinces	strives attempts

Now add the following words to the table:

Instead of 'the author uses, the author could...

		USES

Now add the following words to the table: